Proxime Accessit Nicole Moore with her family

There were smiles and tears aplenty from Parents, school staff, students and families as Sarah Reeve was awarded Dux of Mt Hutt College with Nicole Moore awarded Proxime Accessit. Both of these students have studied hard, achieved outstanding results and contributed to student, school and community life.

Other students have worked equally as diligently. Numerous music students performed, providing processional music and interludes.

An incredibly honouring and powerful commendation was the haka given by students for Sarah, after she was presented with her Dux of Mt Hutt College award.

Another lovely mention was shared with students who had not achieved any awards, yet contribute in so many other valuable ways to the school and our wider community.

Congratulations to all students, families and staff for their work throughout the year.

Dance Showcase this Friday!

Annie Jacobs

The first ever Dance Showcase will be held at Mount Hutt College Hall, this Friday night.

Teacher Hannah Helem is the hard-working, driving force behind the showcase, supported by Colleen Beatty. Hannah has successfully taught dance at the school during break times for the last five years. Under Hannah's tutelage, the teams have been very successful, having entered the Mid Canterbury Dance Championships on numerous occasions.

The Showcase (see the ad on page 5 for more details), will feature 20 exciting dance numbers.

"Most of the teams received accolades or awards at the Mid Canterbury Dance Champs (in our region) and at NZ Dance Made (all of Canterbury)," said Hannah.

A Mt Hutt College dance team beat Ashburton College in the Senior Category of the NZ Dance Made Championships with their dance, "Mama Mia Ma."

Come along for a fantastic Friday night of celebrating with our incredible young people.

Entry is by donation.

Spectacular Mission Mt Somers Drew

The 2025 Mission Mount Somers Trail Running Event was held on the spectacular Mt Somers Walkway near Methven, offering runners an unforgettable day in the heart of Mid Canterbury's backcountry.

Glen Currie

After a week of snow, rain, and gale-force winds, competitors were greeted with calm skies and sunshine - a stunning contrast and ideal conditions for trail running.

Participants tackled a variety of distances across rugged terrain, with the marathon and half marathon events drawing strong fields of runners from across the region. The trails, framed by alpine peaks and native bush, offered a mix of fast single track, technical climbs, and sweeping views that rewarded every step.

The half marathon event which is considered by many as the best trail half marathon in the country, was hotly tested with names such as Trevail, Vianna, Kingsford, Lund completing the event to try and get line honours. Kathmandu Coast to Coast royalty Hamish Elliot was on the start line and threw down a run for the ages.

Marathon Results – Men: Brendon Bradley (No 68) 4:34:28. Jared Van Vianen (No 61) 4:45:10. Max Watson (No 67) 4:53:54. Brendon Bradley claimed victory in the Men's Marathon, setting a strong pace and maintaining control throughout to finish in 4:34:28. Jared Van Vianen followed in 4:45:10, with Max Watson rounding out the podium in 4:53:54 after a determined effort on the technical sections.

Marathon Results – Women: Kate McDowell (No 34) 5:37:42. Helen Roberts (No 50) 5:45:09. Anneke Muller (No 36) 5:48:11. In the Women's Marathon, Kate McDowell delivered a strong and consistent performance to take the win in 5:37:42. Close behind was Helen Roberts, finishing in 5:45:09, followed by Anneke Muller in 5:48:11 after a tight contest for the final podium position.

Half Marathon Results – Men: Hamish Elliott (No 135)1:55:27. Timothy Jorgensen (No 183) 2:02:44. Flavio Vianna (No 299) 2:09:35. The Men's Half Marathon saw Hamish Elliott dominate the field, breaking the two-hour mark with an impressive 1:55:27, and beating the previous course record set by Sjors Corporaal back in 2021. Timothy Jorgensen claimed second in 2:02:44, while veteran runner Flavio Vianna secured third in 2:09:35 after a steady and well-paced run.

Half Marathon Results – Women: Hannah Lund (No 206) 2:28:21. Emily Trevail (No 275) 2:29:38. Penny Mouat (No 227) 2:35:28. The Women's Half Marathon consisted of the who's who of Canterbury Multisport scene. With names such as Lund, Kingsford, Trevail and Mouat the field was super stacked. It was a close race, with Hannah

Lund taking the win in 2:28:21, with Emily Trevail finishing just over a minute behind in 2:29:38. Penny Mouat rounded out the top three in 2:35:28, after a strong final push through the closing kilometres.

A Day to Remember:

The 10km event saw 80 competitors take to the course around Staveley. In the Males Division, Kieran Piper took line honours in a time of 00:44:00. In the Female Division, up and coming triathlete Sophie Lampe knocked out an impressive 00:41:10 around the technical course, taking out the overall female division and fastest time of the day!

The 5k introduction to trail running saw competitors as young as five years old tackle their first trail run. With lots of blistering times, it was another local on the podium - Lockie Lampe smoking the field in just over 20 minutes!

After a week of wintry chaos, the perfect race-day weather highlighted the resilience and spirit of the trail running community. Competitors enjoyed panoramic mountain views, crisp alpine air, and the camaraderie that defines this event. From first-timers to seasoned ultrarunners, every finisher earned their medal and a well-deserved sense of accomplishment.

Congratulations to all participants, volunteers, and supporters who made the

Birds Facing Extinction from Beech Seed Drop

Scientists warn a big drop of seeds from beech forests will create a plague of pests, resulting in an extinction-level event for native birds.

The Department of Conservation (DOC) has modelled the next beech mast and forecasts this spring's flowering will result in trillions of seeds dropped come autumn - a feast for rodents and birds.

DOC expects this to be the biggest seed drop in seven years and plans pest control measures in the South Island's western areas from Kahurangi to Fiordland, where beech is prevalent.

Conservation biologist and Auckland University Professor James Russell said rats and stoats would explode in numbers, and once the seed is eaten, look to supplement their diet with native birds.

"The forecast masting event next year could be an extinction-level event for many local populations of our taonga animal species."

A 1999 rat plague wiped out the last population of mohua yellowhead in the northern South Island

A rat plague during a 1999 beech mast wiped out the last population of mohua yellowhead in the northern South Island at Mt Stokes.

"The science is very clear on when these masting events will happen and what the negative outcomes for native species are," Russell said. "What is required is that we plan and respond appropriately to these pest outbreaks. Mast seeding is a cyclical event that continually comes around again. Strategic pest suppression can minimise the impact of masting events, but will always feel like plugging holes in a dam of pests about to burst." He said Predator Free 2050 projects around the country aimed for pest elimination.

"With elimination, all breeding pests are removed and so, even when a mast event occurs, there is no population to increase," Russell said. "Parts of the country, such as South Westland, are beginning to achieve pest elimination, with towns such as Franz Josef and Okarito now rat-free."

Aerial 1080 predator control operations will be focussed in two rounds - later this year, before seed falls in autumn, and from late 2026, once seed has been eaten or germinated.

DOC national predator control programme manager Peter Morton said it was planning a bigger predator control programme than usual over the next two years.

"Operations will be focused on the best surviving populations of endangered wildlife in Kahurangi, Mt Aspiring, Arthur's Pass and Fiordland national parks. We know, if we do nothing, native species will be decimated. Some of our last surviving mohua populations are hanging on by a thread and there's a risk, with a surge in predators, we could lose them."

Morton said DOC's monitoring showed carefully timed aerial 1080 operations prevented large spikes in predator numbers, enabling birds and bats to survive and breed successfully.

Methven Primary

Last week Methven Primary School presented our whole-school production, Ngā Tamariki He Kaitiaki – Children as Guardians. Our production showcased our Term 3 learning around kaitiakitanga (guardianship), sustainability and the impact we have on our planet. Through the teams we explored different aspects of our environment – from the ocean and forest, to the creatures that live within them, and the challenges of climate change. Our Tamariki shared messages about caring for Papatūānuku and working together to reduce our impact on the world around us. It was great to all of our children involved in the production and having fun! Thank you to everyone who supported this production in coming to life.

Our Lady of the Snows

What an unforgettable adventure we had at Living Springs Camp! We started with a surprise of snow. Over the week, we took part in a huge range of activities which challenged us to build resilience, courage, and confidence in ourselves. We did archery, archery tag, air rifles, tree climbing, the water slide, abseiling in the adventure stream, the monorail, zipline, mini-golf, team-building initiatives, survival skills, bouldering and lots of tramping around the beautiful Living Springs hills. We loved our evenings around the campfire, making smores, and taking turns on the rope swing, trampolines, and enjoying a night-time swim. Each activity encouraged us to step out of our comfort zones, persevere, teamwork, have determination and a positive mindset.

A huge thank you to the OLS Friends of the School for their generous contribution towards our camp, your support helped make this amazing experience possible!

Methven Community Halloween 2025

Every year, New Zealand is one of the first countries in the world to celebrate Halloween.

Spooky and creative costumes were abundant last Friday night as the Methven community came together for our annual event. Each year the evening draws an even bigger crowd of children along with their trusty caregivers, as volunteers welcome trick or treaters to their doors. The volunteers opt in to participate and are placed on our Methven Halloween map, with some very creative and intricate home displays popping up all over town. Long term supporter, Mayor Liz McMillian believes the annual event has been held for around nine years.

The origins of Halloween date back to the ancient Celtic festival Samhain, which marked the end of harvest and the beginning of winter. It has gained popularity in New Zealand over the last few years for those who love getting dressed up. Kids can be creative with their costumes, they can practice their manners and social skills, plus build their confidence and have fun! It is also a great opportunity for families to meet their neighbours and members of our community.

In Methven, our emphasis is on having some fun together for our children and connecting with our community. Families dressed up in creative costumes, from traditional witches and ghosts to popular characters from movies and books. Homes were adorned with spooky decorations, and friendly volunteers eagerly handed out treats. One of the best things about Halloween in Methven is the community spirit it creates. It is a fun, safe way for people to get out and explore, and navigating through town with a map is another bonus skill for the evening.

Thank you to our sponsors Kayla Dynes from Bayleys Methven, Mount Hutt College, and Shutterbug Photography & Design; as well as the volunteers who welcomed children to their homes.

GROW YOUR OWN

Mary Ralston

We may be finally getting a break in the weather and maybe we can feel more confident that the garden will not get pummeled by the wind.

There will still be windy days of course, and probably frosts, but hopefully things are getting more settled.

There's no need to rush into planting (except perhaps for last minute plantings of early potatoes, strawberries, peas and onions) but all the veg that are tolerant of cool weather and soils such as lettuce, silverbeet, spinach, herbs, potatoes, brassicas (cabbage, broc, cauli), carrots, beetroot, parsnips and radish can go in. Chinese cabbage, bok choy and other greens like these are also good to plant now – they will grow quickly and produce tasty leaves but will go to seed early. Coriander is the same.

The veges that like warm soils and weather could wait a bit: zucchinis, pumpkins, outside tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, corn and beans. Seeds can be planted in pots of seed raising or potting mix inside, ready for planting out in a week or two.

If you have a greenhouse or hot garden position (eg, against a north facing wall) tomato, cucumber, pepper and basil seedlings can be planted. For those without a greenhouse but with a sunny deck, tomatoes in containers are a good plan. The bigger the container the greater the water holding capacity (of course) – so go big if you can and use a good fertile potting mix or compost.

Take advantage of the space provided by small plants with big spacings (such as brassicas) by sowing a few herb or radish seeds or lettuce plants in between them. I like to plant some spring onion seedlings and then sow a few rows of spring onion seed adjacent to them – this way there's a continuous supply all through summer. I've also planted some spinach seed as well as plants – it will be interesting to see if those grown from seed don't bolt as quickly as seedlings. Seedlings may have had some stress such as drying out, which can cause them to bolt early.

Fruit and flowers are forming and will benefit from potassium, which is the "flowering and fruiting" element. It's found in wood ash, so if you have a wood burner, the ashes can be lightly sprinkled around fruit trees and berries to help produce a good harvest.

Lions World Service Day

Methven Lions - Ian Ridge, Michael Rudge and Willy Ensor

Methven Lions were out about last week, in action around the community for Lions World Service Day.

Whilst the Lions motto internationally is, "We Serve" and everything they do is about serving others, the World Service Day is about more targeted time serving needs in the community.

Coordinators for the event in Methven, Michael Rudge and Ian Ridge, enquired of the community if there was anyone in need, elderly or frail, who needed help around their house or garden.

Last Wednesday, in the late afternoon sunshine, the Lions set about helping out with garden clean ups, and laying linseed straw.

One of the jobs was at the community combined library and museum on Main Street. The gardens were weeded, old tussock fronds removed and new tussocks planted where gaps had formed. A tandem trailer load of garden detritus was removed.

Lions internationally hold a World Service Day annually and local clubs can choose when / what time they hold theirs. Methven Lions held theirs mid-week so that it did not take up a valuable weekend day.

NATIONAL MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT
Celebrating Brighter Futures at Mt Hutt College

James Meager

It was a pleasure to be part of the Mt Hutt College Senior Prizegiving this week, a wonderful evening filled with pride, connection, and celebration.

The sense of community was strong, and it was great to chat with students, teachers, and families about the year that's been. The talent on display was superb, from the musical and vocal performances to the inspiring stories of achievement and perseverance.

A special congratulations to this year's Dux, Sarah Reeve, an outstanding student who not only excelled academically but also shone as an athlete, entrepreneur, and contributor to the Methven and Foothills communites.

It was fantastic to see the first cohort of Year 11s' through the Opuke Innovation Hub, a great example of local innovation linking learning with real world experience. This kind of programme gives our young people clear pathways into work, qualifications and importantly keeps their skills and energy connected to our community.

Nationally, education is entering an exciting new phase. The Government has announced a rich range of new secondary school subjects for Years 11-13 as part of a refreshed National Curriculum. Alongside this sits the proposal to replace NCEA with a new qualification from 2028, responding to years of feedback from teachers that senior secondary education needs a clear, knowledge-rich foundation.

The refreshed subjects are designed to give students greater choice, stronger pathways, and opportunities for specialisation. Exciting new options include Civics, Politics and Philosophy; Media, Journalism and Communications; Sociology; Electronics and Mechatronics; and Music Technology. With the rapid rise of digital technology, students will learn about and use artificial intelligence, with a specialist Year 13 Generative AI course under development.

Importantly for our district, industry-led subjects will be developed in partnership with employers and tertiary providers. For Mid Canterbury students, this means classroom learning can link directly to our region's strengths in farming, food production, and trades. These changes go together with significant Government investment in education, from funding teacher registration fees and professional development, to boosting teacher numbers, upgrading school property, and supporting modern learning environments.

Our schools are adapting, innovating, and setting students up for success in a fast-changing world. The future is bright for our learners across the country and here in our region.

METHVEN CRICKET CLUB

Alex Keenan

Batting - Adam Preston

Last week was a local derby - Methven versus Mt Somers at the Methven Domain.

With both teams winning a game each in last year's derbies, this game was poised to be another cracker!

Mt Somers quickly won the toss and sent Methven into bat. They quickly got stuck into the Methven batting line up by taking three wickets inside the powerplay. Methven's top order played some ordinary shots and threw their wickets away. Matt Mason managed to keep the run rate up around 8rpo (runs per over) for a while but fell soon after the power play. With Mt Somers taking regular wickets, Methven had to dig deep just to ensure they weren't bowled out before their allotted overs, managing to scrape together 104/7. Alex Keenan, 26 and Matt Mason, 25 the top scores for Methven. Hunter Wyeth bowling his four overs for just eight runs, Sam Chapman and Mitch Munro both taking two wickets doing the damage for Mt Somers.

Methven knew the only way they were going to win this was by taking wickets and missed a couple of tough, early chances - Alex Veint made them pay with 41 of 25. Once he fell, Hunter Wyeth came in and continued to attack, getting Mt Somers home with 40* of 25, inside 13 overs. Paul Robertson the pick of the bowlers, going just 17 of his four overs.
